Kennedy Makes Another Trolley Line Proposition---A Hummer.

WILL BUILD FOR $15,000 STOCK.

And Give Bond to Refund Every Dollar Subscribed if the Road is Not Completed in a Reasonable Time.

By long distance telephone yesterday Mr. Edward Kenedy of Houston made a sweeping proposition to the Bryan-College trolley line committee. To be brief, Mr. Kennedy proposes to build the trolley line if the citizens of Bryan will take $15,000.00 in stock subscriptions, and he further agrees to give bond in any reliable surety company to refund every dollar of the stock subscribed by the Bryan people if the road is not completed in a reasonable time.

This is the information given by Mr. F. M. Law to an Eagle representative, and also given by Mr. Law, who had several conversations with Mr. Kennedy yesterday, to the trolley line committee at a called meeting held late yesterday afternoon.

This looks like the last excuse for Bryan not having a trolley line has been removed; the last vantage of power and terror has been knocked out of the little word "IF."

The Eagle understands that approximately $12,000.00 has been raised toward the enterprise, and that $3,000.00 more will secure it; also that the committee has determined to go out Monday after this amount, get it and close the deal.

After making the proposition Mr. Kennedy left Houston yesterday for the north, and the committee has instructions to communicate with him in Milwaukee.

There is no reason why one day should not be sufficient to get the additional required amount, and the Eagle believes that Monday night will witness the completion of the job.

One Hundred and Twenty Sailors From the Denver

LANDED AT HAVANA.

This Action Is the Result of a Conference Between Commander of Vessel, President Palma and Mr. Sleeper.

Havana, Sept. 14.—One hundred and twenty sailors from the United States protected cruiser Denver camped Thursday night in front of old La Fuerza castle, facing Plaza de Armas, the little park in front of the presidential palace, which is the seat of the Cuban government. The American flag was planted just inside the low stone coping separating the castle grounds from O'Reilly street, which thoroughfare passes between the camp and Plaza de Armas. The American soldiers are armed with regulation rifles, with the exception of a few, who carried revolvers or carbines. Two field howitzers and two rapid fire guns were sent ashore with the steamers and pointed across the pretty little park, a significant warning to any one approaching the executive headquarters of the Cuban government with hostile intent.

The Denver, which originally anchored further up the bar, dropped down to a position abreast of the foot of O'Reilly street, and in front of the offices of the captain of the port, so as to be conveniently near the detachment sent ashore, and close at hand in case of need.

The whole business was done so quietly and quickly that it caused the greatest surprise. The reason for the sudden landing of the American sailors was a conference between President Palma, Charge d'Affaires Sleeper and Commander Colwell.

On the occasion of the latter's formal call upon President Palma Mr. Sleeper asked the president the direct question whether he considered that the government was able to protect all American interests in Havana unaided. The president replied that he hoped that the government would be able to do so, but himself suggested that it might be advisable as a measure of precaution in the interest of Americans, as well as for the maintenance of the marines at some convenient point, suggesting Plaza de Armas. Mr. Sleeper and Commander Colwell, after a brief conference, decided that the landing should be made at 5:30 o'clock, the detachment under the command of Lieutenant Milner, began coming ashore with arms, ammunition and camp paraphernalia and took up a position commanding the approaches to the palace. Two hours later the commissary outfit followed with supper for the officers and men.

Mr. Sleeper cabled Washington that this action was taken to protect American lives and property.

OFFERED TO SURRENDER.
Will Do This If They Are Guaranteed Fair Trials.

Havana, Sept. 14.—An extraordinary incident in connection with the presence of an American force in Havana happened late Thursday evening when Commander Colwell was approached by accredited emissary of Alfredo Zayas, president of the Liberal party, and General Loynaz del Castillo, commander of the insurgent forces in Havana province with a signed offer from each of the men named to surrender their commands and hand over their arms to Commander Colwell on the sole condition that the United States government, through him, guarantee them fair and judicial trials.

Commander Colwell, accompanied by Charge d'Affaires Sleeper, immediately carried the proposition to President Palma. The president was immensely pleased, and asked Commander Colwell if he would accept the surrenders. Commander Colwell replied in the negative, but advised the president to communicate with the Washington government on the subject, which was done accordingly.

Insurgent Generals Issue Address to Americans.

IT IS NOT AN APPEAL

All They Ask Is That Uncle Sam Do Not Interfere, but Permit Differences to Be Settled on Field of Battle.

New York, Sept. 14.--The World prints the following message which its correspondent with the insurgents in Santa Clara province cables he has received by courier from General Guzman:

"Headquarters in the Field, Central Andrieta Plantation, Near Cruces, Santa Clara Province, Sept. 11, 1906. "To the American People: Difficulties have arisen among us, questions of liberty and law, or of peace. We do not ask for sympathy; we ask only an open field, that we may settle with the Cubans and for the Cubans the issues that we have joined.

"There has come a time in the history of this republic when the only way to secure a permanent and righteous peace, safe in guaranteed constitutional liberties, is by war.

"Under the empty name of a republic the shackles of the overthrown Spanish dominion have again been imposed upon us. Our constitution has been cast aside with contemptuous egotism, the royal laws of the ancient regime have been revived and issued to us with the very forms and words of the royal Spanish decree. Absolutism was again fastening itself upon Cuba and in the more dangerous guise and formulas of a republican system that was but the shell of democratic ideals.

"It has become necessary to resort to arms--not for war, if it can possibly be averted, but as a demonstration before the court of last resort that the spirit that for a century has fought against royal oppression still endures and will suffer again the hardships of campaigns rather than yield the fruits of a hard won liberties. By a vast majority Cuba is with us.

"If the present administration in Havana so chooses it will be war no longer.

"Shall we be tricked by commissioners from Palma and armistices whose authority and validity he then denies.

"The intervention of the United States we do not wish. This is our own Cuban question--a question of our rights and liberties that we ourselves must settle. And in considering the question we ask consideration of the fact that it is one fraught with more consequence to Cuba than of momentary commercial loss or gain.

"The rights and properties of Americans will be respected by our forces. "That all in Cuba will suffer as the result of the depression due to war is unfortunate and inevitable, but it is the Cubans, our countrymen, who will suffer most, and with their patriotism they are gladly accepting the sacrifice; for out of it will emerge the firmer right and absolute liberties of real constitutional government.

"To those Americans who believe in the liberties of all people and that right and justice should triumph, even over peace, we present our cause and ask their sympathy.

NEW RURAL ROUTE RULINGS.

The Following Rulings Have Been Lately Sent Out by the Post-office Department:

1. On and after July 1, 1906, patrons of the rural delivery service will be required to display signals on their boxes when they leave mail in them for carriers to collect, as, after that date, carriers, when serving their routes, will not be required to open and examine any mail boxes except those to which they have mail to deliver and these on which signals are displayed to indicate there is mail for carriers to collect.

2. Those patrons whose boxes are not provided with signals must attach thereto some device which, when displayed, will plainly show passing carriers there is mail to be collected. It is not necessary that such device shall be complicated or costly; a very simple arrangement will answer the purpose.

3. Carriers must lower the signals on boxes after collections, provided no mail is left therein; and must display the signals when they deposit mail for patrons, unless the patrons have made request to the contrary.

Get Busy On the Roads.

Last winter there was much complaint about the condition of the roads and we came very near losing the rural mail service. Recollecting this we remind our people that it would be a good time to put the roads in good condition when the crops are laid by. Most of the people will then have nothing to do but visit wife's kinfolks, and a portion of the time allotted for that diversion might profitably be given to our public roads. The rural mail service is a great convenience to the country people and they should give the postoffice department some evidence of their appreciation of it.—Sulphur Springs Gazette.

The Gazette talks right to the people. This paper has urged its folks in this neck of the woods to take action on the road matter before the postal authorities cut our routes out from Lone Oak. While Sarah and the babies go to see da-ma and da-pa John and the grown-up boys can put in some spare time putting the roads in passable condition, at least to the extent that Uncle Sam won't discontinue the rural mail service. It has come near to a show-down now—that unless roads are put in safe and passable condition by this fall and winter the service will be discontinued.—Lone Oak Banner.

Yes, both the brothers are correct and if the people of Hunt County don't make some effort to put the roads in better shape before winter we are afraid some of the rural routes will be cut out. In fact, Uncle Sam has said so. Of course the people of old Hunt are not going to sit idly by after the crops are laid by and let the same condition of the roads prevail that we had last winter, but they will work them and put them in good shape so that the rural routes will be continued.—Greenville Banner.

His Business Is Necessary.

Don't get it into your head to pay the newspaper man as an act of charity—that he has to live and feel that you had just as well help a little. A newspaper is just as legitimate a business as the dry goods or grocery business, and is just as necessary to the building up of the town and country in which it exists as any other business. Further than that, every man in the country gets benefit from the paper whether he is a subscriber or not. The editor does more for the development of the country than any other one man, if he has the good of the country at heart. Don't figure that he has to be an editor to make a living, either. The majority of them can do other things, too.

So, as you are getting benefit from the county paper don't you think you ought to subscribe for it and help the editor to do a good work, not as an act of charity, but as a matter of business and self interest? We do.—Aspermont Star.

Anent Foreign Immigration.

One of the seemingly hopeless evils of the times is the foreign immigration. We say seemingly hopeless because there are so few to oppose it, and such powerful influences to favor it.

When we consider the woes inflicted upon the South by negroes imported from Africa, the Dagoes in New Orleans and elsewhere, the Anarchist and Socialists all over the country, but especially in Chicago, the Chinaman in San Francisco and the mining regions of the West, the Mexicans on our Southwestern border, and thousands of lesser evils all over the country, it does seem that we ought sometime to open our eyes to the folly of our course and mend our ways.

A great effort is now being made to turn the tide of European pauper immigration, and even Asiatic immigration, toward the South, especially Southwest Texas.

Houston immigration agents, real estate boomers, railroad men, lumber men, etc., etc., are especially active just at present, trying to secure Japanese colonies for the railroad and rice lands of the Southwest. Of course the "development" of our public domain is desirable, if developed right; but we'd rather see our great Southwest prickly pear deserts still inhabited by respectable long horn Texas steers and Jack rabbits, than to see it developed by just any old thing from Europe or Asia.

We consider the Texas steer and Jack rabbit more useful and desirable class of citizens, than paupers, anarchists and people who have no sympathy or respect for the laws and customs of our land.

To be sure, there is some money in it for the time being. And here is where the danger comes in. We have grown too much accustomed to embracing every proposition that there is a present dollar in, regardless of future results. And while we have time and again reaped the bitter fruits of such short-sighted philosophy, still we seem never to learn our lesson well.

It is always best to have a comparatively "one blooded" people. They live more harmoniously together, they see the same way, and there is not the friction that is always found among a nation composed of all nations, such as ours is growing more and more to be.—Arlington Journal.

Texan Believes All Men Are Liars.

A professor in the Chicago University has put himself under bond $25,000, conditioned that he tell the exact truth for a whole year. We will bet $4 that he violates the conditions of the bond in two weeks unless he lights out for the wilderness and finds some place in the tall timbers where the foot of man has never trod, where he can live the life of a hermit, seeing no man and consequently conversing with no man. To tell the whole truth as we understand it would be to conceal absolutely nothing. It would be to tell every man he meets what he thinks of him and likewise every woman. If he really undertakes to do that and doesn't get his face punched in before a week goes by then we miss our guess. In the strict sense of the word a man may be as much of a liar by what he doesn't say as by what he does say. A deaf and dumb man may be a liar all right although he can't say a word. The professor will have to say himself whether or not he lied during the year. If he does lie, which he will, he will also lie in making his statement that he hasn't lied. There are more self advertisers in that Chicago University faculty than in any other college, and it is a safe proposition to bet on that any man, college professor or plain citizen, who offers to bet $25,000 that he won't tell a lie for a year, is a liar on general principles.—Wills Point Chronicle.

The Name "Texas" Again.

From the Austin, Texas, correspondence of the New York Tribune we read the following:

Edward W. Hensinger of San Antonio, has just added to his collection of old and rare books a geography which was published in 1747. The maps in this book are remarkably well executed, and are interesting in that they were known at that time. On one of the maps the north western part of America is shown as also only parts undiscovered. Australia was only partly discovered, and it is shown as the land of New Holland, with New Guinea and Van Deiman's Land, now called the Island of Tasmania, as one supposed continent. New Zealand, too, is shown as a partly discovered new land. The Hawaiian Islands had not been heard of. The Atlantic ocean was at that called the Western Ocean. What is now the Pacific ocean was called The Great South Sea, and the Caribbean sea was then known as the North Sea. Another important map in those days was that of Mexico, known as New Spain and what is now Texas was known as the province of Louisiana. The French settlement of Natchitoches is shown, and the countries of the Natchez and Apache Indians are indicated, and it is interesting to note the source of the Rio Grande, then called Rio Del Norte, which according to this wonderful map, rises among some mountains about where South Dakota now is. Mr. Hensinger says one important factor in the text of this work is the description of certain Indian tribes toward the North River (Rio Grande) known as the Texas, was then the name of the reformed Indians living in the missions, for it speaks of them as having embraced Christianity and being the more passionate lovers of the Spaniards. Texas was therefore no doubt derived from the word Texas, he says.

Adam's Volcano.

BY ELLA M. FREEMAN.

(Copyright, 1906, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Adam always read about the Wall street news; and he used to say: "Mariah, some day you'll be proud of me when 'Adam Tucker' is the most popular name in Wall street." And never a bit did I doubt Adam.

One night Adam sorter moved his chair nervous-like and says he: "Mariah, this ain't the place for us. Vermont is too slow, and, anyway, we are both needin' a change."

I says: "Adam, it seems to me like a mighty risk to sell off ever'thing and go out a seekin' a fortune."

"But," said he, "it's the only way to get one, Mariah. We can't make a fortune a settin' here."

That very month we moved out to the Rocky mountains. We sold off mighty nigh all our stuff, but there was some things we just couldn't get on without. There was our old feather bed—I told Adam there was no use talkin', I just couldn't sleep a wink off that bed.

That was a cold winter and we had a powerful sight of trouble. Things didn't open up to Adam like he'd expected, and sometimes he couldn't get work, and sometimes he couldn't, and I say, I was gettin' mighty discouraged. But I didn't say nothin'. Poor Adam! He'd just set ever' night with his head between his hands mopin' over his troubles. And the money was goin', too (we always kept it in one of Adam's old socks). Well, at last I got out the sock one night, and I declare, we was clear down to the heel. Then I couldn't keep still no longer, and I says:

"Look here, Adam, we ain't got nothin' left but the foot, and that'll be gone in no time, and then where'll we be?"

Adam shook his head despairing-like.

Then he picked up the paper that hadn't been unfolded yet, and says he: "Mariah, heer's a plan; now we've got to go into somethin' good or bad, so let's agree whatever we come to first in the paper—that's what we'll go into."

I was ready for anything, so I says, solemn-like: "Adam, it's agreed."

Then I declare I held my breath while Adam tremblin' opened the paper and read aloud: "Silver mines in Peru!" That's what we was to go into, and neither of us had ever in our lives heard of Peru before.

"Peru!" I repeated it over and over, but I couldn't make out what it was, so I left it to Adam, and he asked some of the men about Peru. Finally somebody told him all about it, and at last we realized we had a long journey before us.

Well, once more we sold off what little stuff we had, and started out for Peru.

Well, we'd been in Peru for nearly two months. Adam did perty well gettin' work, but we didn't do no more than make a livin'. There didn't seem to be but one place to get rich there, and that was in the silver mines, and they couldn't be had for any kind of a price.

Adam was awful worried, and sometimes I used to be real scared, for Adam didn't act like himself. All at once he got to readin' about Vesuvius in an old book we had; I never could see anything in it, but Adam would just set up at nights and read and read. That went on for about a week, and sometimes he'd just walk up and down the floor.

Well, one night we'd been in bed for more'n three hours, and Adam seemed like he couldn't lay still; he twisted and rolled, and sometimes would say somethin' to himself. Then all of a sudden he just set straight up in bed and says he: "A volcano's the thing! It's the only way to get rich!"

I never for one minute but doubted that Adam was crazy; I just thought sure that all this movin' around had completely upset his mind. I couldn't say a word for quite a spell, and then I gasped: "Adam! What's the matter? O Adam! I do believe you've lost your mind! What shall I do?"

Says he: "Mariah, sit up here and listen; I've got a plan that'll make us rich."

"Well, I lit the candle and sat down on the edge of the bed, and Adam began:

"Look here, Mariah," says he, "if folks could be kind of stirred up, and thought there was really goin' to be a volcano, they'd be a gettin' out of here in no time; and they'd just be a sellin' off their stuff for little or nothin'. Now, I'm goin' to have a volcano."

Then I thought Adam had surely lost his mind, and says I: "Why, Adam, you can't make a volcano. Now, do lay down and go to sleep, and maybe you'll be all right in the mornin'."

But Adam persisted. Says he: "Mariah, I tell you there is nothin' the matter with me. I'm a goin' to have a volcano, and I'm goin' to make it myself; now you just wait 'till I tell you how."

"It'll be lots of work, Mariah, and you'll have to help, but I tell you we'll have a fortune. We'll take that mountain close to old Jack Hall's silver mine, and ever' night we'll haul up a great lot of tar. Then we'll carry up an old anvil, like we used to have at home on the Fourth of July. Then when we get ready for the thing to go off, we'll commence to melt the tar; while the smoke's goin' up we'll fire off the anvil and start the tar a runnin' down the sides of the mountain, and folks 'll think there's a real volcano in action, and while ever'thing's a goin' its best we can buy up some mines awful cheap, and we'll be rich."

Well, it took us two weeks to get the stuff up that mountain, and we worked at night and slept in the day. At last we

'as ready, and Adam said he'd go up early in the mornin' and get the smoke to goin', an' 'long towards the next mornin' when things would be lookin' worse, I was to go up and take his place. So Adam started the smoke, and in less 'an an hour the black smoke was pourin' out of the top, and folks was standin' around gapin' at it. Then there was a rumblin' kind of a noise, and folks begun to run up and down the roads a wringin' their hands and cryin' and prayin'.

Then I told ever'body I thought it must be a volcano. By that time things was lookin' so permiscuous-like I says to myself: "There's no use a waitin' any longer," and I went right up so as Adam could come down.

Well all that night I set up there a keepin' things goin'; the tar poured over the sides of the mountain, and the smoke was black and thick. Mornin' came, and Adam was still away, but I kept on till mighty nigh the next night. Then I saw somebody comin', and I watched awful close, and I saw it was Adam. He just came and dropped down beside me, and says he, clutchin' to a roll of paper: "Mariah, heer's a fortune; I've bought four silver mines."

We didn't keep 'em all, though; we sold off three, for mighty big prices, and the other's a turnin' out big. Adam and I come back to our old country just a week ago. We ain't decided just where we'll live, but we're goin' to the world's fair first. I'm gettin' my blue satin dress made and Adam says it's the most becomin' shade he ever saw—it's a real turquoise and trimmed with 15 yards of white lace.

LIVES OF FISHES SAVED.

Taken from Sloughs Formed by Overflow of Illinois and Mississippi Rivers.

The rescue of fishes from the sloughs formed by the overflow of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers has been in the last year conducted by the bureau of fisheries on a larger scale than heretofore, according to the New York Tribune. These sloughs, says the commissioner, become entirely dry in summer or, with the high temperature of the water, fill with a rank growth of vegetation which smothers the fish. In winter they freeze. Thus the fish in them must perish unless removed, and the work of the bureau consists in seining these overflowed places and transferring the fish to suitable waters. Millions of fish have thus been rescued and returned to the rivers, and large numbers are retained for distribution by the car and messenger service to applicants all over the country, these sloughs being one of the chief sources of supply for large mouth bass, crappie and sunfish.

In September, 1904, a crew of the employees of the Bellevue, Ia., station engaged in rescuing food and game fishes from the overflowed islands adjoining the Mississippi in Jo Daviess county, Illinois, were set upon by the sheriff of that county, subjected to many indignities and imprisoned over night in wet clothes. The alleged ground for this arrest was violation of the state law, although, as a matter of fact, the bureau was operating in strict accordance with the law, and this was well known to the sheriff. As Jo Daviess county, which extends for about 35 miles along the river in the vicinity of Dubuque, Ia., comprises a long stretch of low islands, swamps, etc., on which are hundreds of shallow lakes and pools made by the overflow water from the Mississippi river, it is the best field on the upper Mississippi for the bureau's work, and on account of this fact the special collecting station was established at Bellevue some years ago. There are not many overflow lakes on the Iowa side of the river within easy reach of the station, and if the bureau is prevented from taking fish from the Illinois side the work will be seriously crippled in future and will probably have to be abandoned.

Cock Fighting Among the Greeks.

The sport of cock fighting seems to have originated with Themistocles of Greece. When he was leading an army against the Persians he noted two cocks in a desperate battle.

To stimulate the courage of his soldiers, he pointed out the bravery of birds, and having won his battle with the Persians, he ordered that an annual cock fight should be held to celebrate his victory.

In England the records show that the first cock fight took place in 1191.

One Little Prisoner.

In the island of Sark the most serious offenses are trespassing and leaving gates unlocked, for the result is that often the cattle get on to the cliffs and fall into the sea. There are 400 inhabitants and one prison, but it never had but one prisoner, a small girl, who had stolen a handkerchief, and she sobbed so loudly that they let her out.

Dying of Old Age.

The Alhambra, the famous palace of Granada, is falling into ruin. The ancient home of Spain's Moorish kings, founded in 1273, has withstood both earthquakes and fire. The French soldiers blew up eight of its towers, and tried to level the entire fabric. It is the great age of the building which is threatening it with destruction now.

The Paint Rock Pessimist.

"Some men are so suspicious," said the pessimist of Paint Rock, "that if they went into the organ grinding business they would compel the monkeys to carry little cash registers."

Life of a Horse.

Civilization shortens the life of a horse. In a wild state he lives to be 36 or 40 years old, while the domestic horse is old at 25 years.

BIRD NEST ARCHITECTURE.

Interesting Developments in the Construction of a Yellowhammer Home.

A correspondent of the Lewiston Journal writes: From the windows of a Minot farm house have been observed interesting developments in bird nest architecture. Where a branch had been cut from an apple tree was chosen by a yellow hammer for its summer home.

For nearly two weeks the birds have been at work chiseling out a cavity for their purpose. The yellowhammer is among our larger summer migrants and needs a home of generous dimensions in which to rear its young. Since they have made the hole large enough to enter one of the birds disappears inside, and from the opening sprays of fine chips seem to be blown from the bird's bill. Their emphatic staccato notes are not so often heard as when they were mating. Their choosing a nice new home shows a fine regard for sanitation, which the bluebird, for instance, seems to lack.

The grass about the old apple tree is well covered with the new chips, the cavity being about five feet from the ground. The crows who skulk about and raid so many robins' nests will not be able to enter this nest, but alas! the red squirrel that runs up and down the wall and is fond of all sorts of mischief—he knows all about what the yellowhammers are doing, and he is the enemy which Mistress Yellowhammer should be watching.

Would Remodel Spelling.

It is the opinion of Nature that "a strong man should come forward, and by his influence compel all philologists, the whole world over, to adopt the Lepsian alphabet (with two or three trifling changes) as the standard which all persons must adopt in transcribing the languages of the world not already and anciently expressed in Roman letters; nay, more, it is to be hoped one day that all the civilized tongues of the world—English, French, German, Russian, Greek, Arabic, and every other speech with a literature—may be written down in one form of lettering, and according to one standard—perhaps the Lepsian—of expressing sounds by letters."

Woman Had Basket of Wolves.

Mrs. M. Henderson, who lives four miles southwest of Bush City, was in town to-day with six young wolves which she and her husband captured yesterday on their farm, says the Garnett News.

The wolves were quite young, they did not have their eyes open yet, and one who did not know what they were would have said they were puppies.

There is a bounty of $1 a head on the wolves, so that Mrs. Henderson will receive $6 for the scalps of the six. They made an effort to capture the old wolf but she could not be found.

Forbidden by Law.

There is an old church in Wisconsin which has no steeple, because of a court mandate forbidding such a construction. In 1862 a severe storm swept over the town, hurling the original spire against the house next door and wrecking it. The owner of the house got an injunction restraining the trustees of the church from building another spire, and this order has held ever since.

Bush Fires in Australia.

The remarkable discovery has been made that many of the recent great bush fires in New South Wales and Victoria were caused by the phosphorus paste laid down to kill rabbits. The paste is laid down by the ton in all the rabbit infested districts. As soon as the mixture dries it catches fire under the heat of the sun's rays and starts disastrous conflagrations.

THE MORNING EAGLE

Entered at the Postoffice as second class mail matter.

BY CARNES & WALLACE.

BRYAN, TEXAS, SEPTEMBER 15

Bishop Ward's idea of making Japan Protestant, and through that wonderful nation to christianize China, Korea and Siam, is the way to meet the "yellow peril" if there is such a thing.

The only chance the republicans would have in the Sixth congressional district would be for the voters to write a name on the ticket. Under the Terrell election law the time limit has expired on all other modes of procedure.

Hearst has been nominated for governor of New York by the Independence League. His collection of nominations bids fair to be unexcelled for number and variety.

The suit of Richard Mays, filed at Cameron, prays that Mays be declared the democratic nominee for congress; that the executive committee be required to certify his nomination to the various county clerks of the district; that Hardy be restrained from having his name on the ticket. Mays further prays for a judgement for $10,000.00 damages against Hardy, J. L. Halbert and S. O. Wofford, alleging they fraudulently conspired to defraud him of the nomination.

METHODIST CHURCH PROGRESS.

Laying of the Corner Stone the Coming Week—Parsonage Foundation Laid.

Work is progressing nicely on the new Methodist church building. The brick work is now under way and the roof is ready for the metal shingles. The corner stone will be laid sometime during the coming week under Masonic auspices, and with other exercises appropriate to the occasion, the date to be announced later. The foundation of the parsonage has also been laid, and the work on it will be pushed rapidly.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN WYMOLA.

The funeral of Mr. John Wymola, who died at his home in the country, was held at St. Joseph's Catholic church in this city yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Gleissner conducting the service. Mr. Wymola was 30 years old and leaves a wife and one child, also three brothers, Messrs. Jake, Ed and Charles Wymola. He was a member of the Catholic church and an industrious young farmer whose death is deplored by many friends.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.

Held Two Sessions and Decided to Nominate Ticket.

New York, Sept. 12.—The first two sessions of the Independence League, headed by W. R. Hearst, were held here Tuesday, the first being called to order at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and the second at 9 o'clock at night. Temporary and permanent organizations were perfected, and amid much enthusiasm a lengthy platform setting forth the principles of the league was adopted.

The convention declared positively in favor of the nomination of a full state ticket, and instructed the committee on resolutions to draft a suitable reply to W. J. Connors and other delegates to the Democratic state convention at Buffalo Sept. 25.

The convention also directed the committee on resolutions to consider and report to the convention on the qualifications of candidates.

A feature of the night session was an ovation following the mention of Mr. Hearst's name, which lasted half an hour. Mr. Hearst did not attend the sessions.

The mention of District Attorney Jerome's name called forth prolonged groans and hisses.

The platform sets forth the fundamental idea of the league as independent of boss rule or corporation control and of any party subject to these. It declares for a "free vote and an honest count," and demands a "revision of the present dishonest and complex election law, a simplified ballot and a law providing for a recount in cases of fraud or mistakes."

The life insurance scandals are referred to at some length. Governor Higgins is denounced for failure to reorganize the state insurance department and a new election of the insurance companies is scored.

District Attorney Jerome is denounced by name as follows:

"We express the disgust felt by all good partisans over the failure of District Attorney Jerome to prosecute criminals, regardless of their wealth or social position, those guilty of insurance frauds."

Regarding public ownership, the platform says:

"The Independence League believes in the public ownership of utilities that are natural monopolies. Holdings that no person or corporation is privileged to confiscate that which rightfully belongs to another, it stands for irreconcilable hostility to appropriations by corporations of franchise values created by the community and belonging to the community. Respect for local rights and home rule should authorize the enactment of a statute empowering all cities to acquire and operate public necessities."

SLASHED TO PIECES.

Horrible Treatment That Was Given a Man at Amarillo.

When found he was in a dying condition, and was removed to St. Anthony's sanitarium.

Reece was literally cut to pieces, his entrails protruding in several places and the main arteries in both arms being cut in two. Officers arrested W. T. Groves, Ed Barnhill and Al Prescott, who claim that another man, who is still at large, did the cutting.

At Last a Perfect Visible Typewriter

The One Typewriter That Correctly Solves the Objections That Have Always Heretofore Been Made Against "Front Strike" Machines.

Visible writing has always been considered as desirable by practically all typewriter manufacturers, but the difficulties to be overcome in construction in order to secure durability have discouraged the very large adoption of these machines. The invention of the method of assembling the type bars as it is done in the Fox Visible has, however, made possible the use of a wide pivotal bearing in the type hanger, thus insuring the most perfect alignment at all times and a durability that is equal to that claimed for any "basket type" machine. In building this new model, we have all the advantage of the knowledge that we have gained in building and placing the regular Fox models on the market and we are able to avoid all those experiments found in new machines which are so expensive to the purchaser.

Here is a Short Description.

THE TYPE HANGER—The hanger has a pivot bearing 7-16 of an inch wide. This allows the use of a heavy type bar, providing an adjustable pivot bearing which takes up wear as it occurs, thereby giving a permanent alignment that is impossible to secure with a narrow bearing without adjustment, and avoiding the trouble caused where "forced alignment" is necessary. This is the feature that has heretofore been considered as being impossible to secure in a visible writing typewriter. It is found only in the Fox and places the Fox Visible in a class by itself.

TWO COLOR RIBBON—The ribbon movement on this machine is simply perfection. It reverses and oscillates automatically, requiring no attention from the operator from the time it is put on until worn out. When a two color ribbon is used, by simply touching a button on the keyboard the second color is secured instantly without raising the hand or even looking.

THE INTERCHANGEABLE CARRIAGE—The carriage is so constructed that it can be quickly removed and a carriage of different length substituted. One machine can be purchased with different sizes of carriages, thereby effecting a great saving over the ordinary method of buying a long carriage machine complete. The carriage is ball bearing and runs with a tension of only 1 lb.

PERFECT VISIBLE WRITING—The entire line is visible all the time.

THE KEY TENSION—The force required on the part of the operator to print a letter is only 2 1/2 ounces. This is from 25 to 50 per cent. less than any other. It is a vital thing both from the operator's standpoint of less fatigue and the owner's of greater durability.

THE LINE LOCK—When the carriage reaches the end of a line, the keys lock and nothing more can be written until the release button is used or the carriage returned to begin a new line.

ALUMINUM KEY LEVERS—Key levers are made of aluminum. It is more expensive than steel or wood, but it is very much more desirable.

TABULATOR—The Fox ten stop decimal tabulator is attached when ordered, at slight additional expense. It is the only decimal tabulator in use on a visible typewriter.

Every feature on this machine has been tried out and demonstrated as successful on the Regular Models of the Fox. Unprejudiced experts have without hesitation pronounced the machine a marvel.

Ask your nearest typewriter dealer to show you this machine. If he cannot we will make it easy for you.

The regular models of the Fox are still the most perfect machines of their kind and their manufacture will be continued as before.

CUBA SOLE TOPIC.

Strict Neutrality, but Protection of Americans, Policy.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Cuba is the sole topic of conversation of that part of the official family at Washington which is dealing with the disturbed situation in the island. The state department, upon instructions from Oyster Bay, is directing the policy of the government in the present crisis, the navy is furnishing the force to carry out the policy and the war department is ready for any part it may be asked to take if intervention is decided upon. The policy of the government is shown in the order to withdraw from Havana all forces save such as may be accommodated in the American legation and which remain as the legation guard. To have allowed a force of more than 100 blue jackets to camp around the palace of the president of Cuba it is believed would not be construed otherwise than taking sides in favor of the Palma government, as such force would protect him in his present position.

Strict neutrality between the warring factions, but with every possible precaution to protect American life and property, is the policy of the United States. The navy, acting under orders also from the president, is ready and preparing to furnish such force as may be necessary to carry out this policy. If ships already in Cuban waters are not sufficient, others may be dispatched. Those ships which are destined for duty elsewhere and were leisurely outfitting for a cruise of Dominican waters have been rushed and will soon sail.

The landing of 120 soldiers by Commander Colwell and subsequent withdrawal of nearly the entire force on orders from Washington caused considerable comment, but it is asserted no reflection on the officer was involved in action that was taken here. The big triple screw cruiser Minneapolis, under orders, will prepare in all haste to sail on short notice. At Norfolk navy yard the cruiser Newark is under orders similar to those given the Minneapolis. Both these ships are very much larger and more powerful vessels than any of those so far ordered to Cuba.

NOMINEES JOIN IN.

Pray to Be Made Parties to Suit For Mandamus Writ.

Austin, Sept. 14.—The nominees of the Reorganized Republican Party of Texas have filed in the supreme court a petition of intervention, praying to be made parties to the suit for a writ of mandamus by Chairman Acheson of the executive committee and members thereof against Secretary of State Shannon.

Articles of incorporation of Caro and Northern Railroad company were filed. Headquarters are at Nacogdoches; capital stock is $100,000. The purpose is to construct a railroad from Caro, Nacogdoches county, to Mount Enterprise, Rusk county.

DREADFUL MISTAKE.

Young Man Thinking aFther an Intruder, Shot Parent Fatally.

Houston, Sept. 14.—Mistaking his father, H. Stoerli, for a burglar, Ed Stoerli fired a bullet into him at an early hour Friday morning. The wound is regarded as fatal. Young Stroeller assists his father in their store, on Washington street and sleeps there. Contrary to his custom, the father slept there also on Thursday night, and early Friday morning arose to close a window. The son saw him, and thinking his a burglar after his trousers, with store receipts in them, near the window, grabbed a pistol and fired. He is overcome with grief.

WOUNDS WOMAN.

Georgian Then Turns Weapon Upon Himself and Is a Corpse.

Atlanta, Sept. 14.—Charles Geismar of Macon shot and slightly wounded Mrs. E. B. Ivey at her home on Edgewood avenue, this city, early Friday. He then shot and killed himself. Geismar went to the home of Mrs. Ivey late Thursday night and demanded admittance. This was refused, and early Friday he returned, entered the kitchen, where Mrs. Ivey was preparing breakfast, and began firing. One bullet struck her in the left hand; otherwise she is unharmed. No cause has been given for the deed.

FIVE CHILDREN DROWN.

SPEAKS AT CINCINNATI.

Several Thousand Persons Hear Bryan at the Baseball Park.

Cincinnati, Sept. 14.—At the National Baseball league park Hon. W. J. Bryan addressed an immense audience Thursday night. He was given an enthusiastic reception. All of the 10,000 seats were filled and several thousand additional chairs were placed in front of the grand stand.

In his introductory speech Mayor Dempsey went over various features in local political conditions, speaking of the investigation by a state senate committee last spring and the developments following it.

Mr. Bryan returned thanks for the great crowd, the grand reception and for the kindly commendations given him by the mayor in his introduction. He claimed no credit for the fact that the principles he had advocated had grown more popular, for he never had thought he stood alone in the advocacy of Democratic principles.

"I want to thank Mr. Burton for what he has done," said the speaker, who told of meeting the Cleveland congressman at the peace conference in London, saying that Mr. Burton's earnest plea had more effect on the people who had to have his words translated, than they had on the Republicans at Dayton.

"The hopes of the Republican party hang on one man," declared the speaker, "because that man has been carrying out a Democratic platform. Did you ever before know of a party having to hang its hopes on its leader's desertion of the party to the ideas of their opponents?"

He spoke of the president as a man of "war and iron," and yet having as his great glory that he brought peace between Russia and Japan. He also praised the ending of the coal strike, but claimed that both the doctrines of peace and that of arbitration were taken from the Democratic platforms. He asked why the Republican party had not followed the settlement of the mine strike with a proper arbitration law.

SUIT PROBABLE.

Reported That Action Is to Be Taken Against Oil Company.

Austin, Sept. 14.—It is understood that Special Assistant Attorney General Lightfoot, in charge of anti-trust litigation, will file suit against the Waters-Pierce Oil company for penalties and ouster because of alleged violation of the anti-trust laws of Texas. It is generally understood that some of the evidence in possession of Judge Lightfoot does not harmonize with some of the statements of H. Clay Pierce, president of said company, in his testimony.

John H. Caldwell, assistant county attorney, has instituted proceedings asking for permanent injunctions to prevent gambling on certain premises in this city. The suits were brought under the law of the last legislature which authorized the institution of mandamus proceedings to prevent gambling. District Judge George Calhoun granted a temporary writ of injunction and the papers have been served.

Attorney General Davidson designated Office Assistant Claude Pollard to defend the secretary of state in the mandamus proceedings of the Reorganized Republican party of Texas to have their nominees placed on the official ballot. Mr. Pollard wrote the original opinion, holding that the names could not be placed on the official ballot.

Havana, Sept. 14.—Mr. Sleeper, American charge, received a cablegram from the state department at Washington directing him to request the withdrawal of the Denver's sailors. This he did in a note to Commander Colwell. At 9:30 o'clock Commander Colwell landed, and, after calling at the legation, went to the palace, where he conferred with President Palma. As a result the force of sailors was withdrawn.

Commander Colwell declared that as the city was quiet and he believed he could land men in ten minutes should circumstances require it, it was better to return the sailors to the Denver. The men pulled up tent states and departed.
